STUDY GUIDE

1. What was one of the most confusing situations of your life? How did your faith in God shape your response to that situation?
2. This week, we will look at Genesis 16 as we continue our "Faith Life" series at Eastbrook. Ask God to speak to you before reading this chapter of Genesis aloud. In order to best understand this passage, please also read Genesis 12:1-3 and 15:1-5.
3. In Abram's day, it was not uncommon or unlawful for a maidservant to have a surrogate child for the patriarch of the household. This would provide for continuance of the family line and inheritance. However, given God's promises in Genesis 12 and 15, what do you think is going on in Abram and Sarai's lives from what we read in Genesis 16:1-3?
4. What stands out to you about Hagar and Sarai's behavior in verses 4-6? What stands out to you about Abram's behavior?
5. Have you ever experienced a time where you tried to participate in God's plans but did not do it in God's way? What happened in your life? How did you change?
6. The second half of the chapter, beginning in verse 7, charts out God's interaction with Hagar. Who is the 'angel of the Lord' and why do you think this is important in the passage? [You may also look at Exodus 3:2-3; 14:19-20; Judges 13:3-21; Matthew 1:20-21; Luke 1:19-20.]
7. Even though Hagar has run away because of Sarai's mistreatment, God speaks powerful words to her. What stands out to you about God's words to Hagar in the midst of her circumstances and about her child's future?
8. Hagar gives God the name El-Roi, which means both 'the God who sees me' and 'the God I have seen'. Why is this significant for Hagar? What do you think it means for you that God both sees us and reveals Himself to us?
9. What is one thing God is speaking to you about your own life of faith through this week's study? If you are on your own, write it down somewhere so you can think about that during the week. If you are with a group, take some time to discuss this with one another.

[Next week we will look at Genesis 17:1-27, talking about the tangible signs of faith into which God called Abraham as we continue our "Faith Life" series.]
